

Legacy Information Event

Thursday 10 September 2015

from 11.30am to 1pm

At the Sam Wanamaker Playhouse

As a loyal Friend of Shakespeare's Globe of several years' standing we are delighted to be supporting their first Legacy Information Event.

Shakespeare's Globe often receive enquiries as to what exactly is involved in leaving a legacy to them, particularly regarding adding something to a will already drawn-up, and thought it would be useful for a Legacy Information Event.

This is an opportunity to hear a few people speak about the subject; some experts on the legal aspects and legators who have already made a pledge in favour of the Globe.

For those who have not yet booked for Measure for Measure, there is a matinee at 2pm, so a 1pm finish gives time for both lunch and the show. Tickets may be purchased in advance through Shakespeare's Globe Box Office.

Do note that you will not be asked to sign up to a legacy; you will be provided with useful information should you decide it is something you wish to do.

The event is free, but do please let Jessica Lowery, from the Globe know if you are interested in attending. She can then send you an itinerary for the event.

We hope to see you on 10 September. If there is a specific question you would like answered at the event, do take the opportunity to mention it when you reply.
