New Quadrant Partners LLP - new appointments

New Quadrant Partners LLP ('New Quadrant'), the London-based boutique private client law firm, announces the appointment of Vanessa Kemp as a Partner with the Firm with effect from 1st November 2011.

Vanessa has been with the Firm since inception and was instrumental in the set up. She advises on all aspects of personal tax and estate planning together with advising on trusts both with UK and cross border issues. She is a member of STEP and Solicitors for the Elderly and appeared in Private Client Practitioner's "Top 35 under 35" in September of this year. Vanessa has developed a niche practice in the set up of personal injury trusts for clients who have suffered a catastrophic injury predominately through an accident or clinical negligence.

In addition New Quadrant has further expanded its legal team with the appointment of two new associates; Andrew Kidd and Robert Hurling.

Andrew Kidd joins (on 7th November) from Silverman Sherliker LLP where he advised on all aspects of succession planning. He also advised on contentious matters in challenging or defending the validity of a will and advising trustees and beneficiaries on a range of succession related disputes.

Andrew has twice been included in Private Client Practitioner's "Top 35 under 35".

Andrew commented as follows:

"I am very excited about this next step in my career, and look forward to both my existing and future clients benefiting from the broad technical expertise which can be found at New Quadrant."

Robert Hurling joins from the Office of the Official Solicitor and brings a broad range of experience with wills and probates as well and tax planning and Court of Protection matters.

Commenting on the appointments, Louise Stoten, senior partner, said:

"I am delighted with these appointments which come at an important time in New Quadrant's growth. Our focus on our clients and commitment to independence in advice is crucial and the experience that both Andrew and Robert bring continues to enhance the skill set within New Quadrant.
